TEXT AND TYPOGRAPHY

CONDITIONS OF SALE

I. Rejection of bids: Any bid which is not commensurate with the value of the article offered, or which is merely a nominal or fractional advance may be rejected by the auctioneer if in his judgment such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.

II. The buyer: The highest bidder shall be the buyer, and if any dispute arises between two or more bidders, the auctioneer shall either decide the same or put up for re-sale the lot so in dispute.

III. Identification and deposit by buyer: The name of the buyer of each lot shall be given immediately on the sale thereof, and when so required, each buyer shall sign a card giving the lot number, amount for which sold, and his or her name and address.

A deposit at the actual time of the sale shall be made of all or such part of the purchase prices as may be required.

If the two foregoing conditions are not complied with, the lot or lots so purchased may at the option of the auctioneer be put up again and re-sold.

IV. Risk after purchase: Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter the property is at the purchasers' risk, and neither the consignor nor the Association is responsible for the loss of, or any damage to any article by theft, fire, breakage, however occasioned, or any other cause whatsoever.

V. Delivery of purchases: Delivery of any purchases will be made only upon payment of the total amount due for all purchases at the sale.

VI. Receipted bills: Goods will only be delivered on presentation of a receipted bill. A receipted bill presented by any person will be recognized and honored as an order by the buyer, directing the delivery to the bearer of the goods described thereon. If a receipted bill is lost before delivery of the property has been taken, the buyer should immediately notify the Association of such loss.

VII. Storage in default of prompt payment and calling for goods: Articles not paid for in full and not called for by the purchaser or agent by noon of the day following that of the sale may be turned over by the Association to some carter to be carried to and stored in some warehouse until the time of the delivery therefrom to the purchaser, and the cost of such cartage and storage and any other charges will be charged against the purchaser and the risk of loss or damage occasioned by such removal or storage will be upon the purchaser.

In any instance where the purchase bill has not been paid in full by noon of the day following that of the sale, the Association and the auctioneer reserve the right, any other stipulation in these conditions of sale notwithstanding, in respect to any or all lots included in the purchase bill, at its or his option, either to cancel the sale thereof or to re-sell the same at public or private sale without further notice for the account of the buyer and to hold the buyer responsible for any deficiency and all losses and expenses sustained in so doing.

VIII. Shipping: Shipping, boxing or wrapping of purchases is a business in which the Association is in no wise engaged, but the Association will, however, afford to purchasers every facility for employing at current and reasonable rates carriers and packers; doing so, however, without any assumption of responsibility on its part for the acts and charges of the parties engaged for such service.

IX. Guaranty: The Association exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly and endeavors therein and also at the actual time of sale to point out any error, defect or imperfection, but guaranty is not made either by the owner or the Association of the correctness of the description, genuineness, authenticity or condition of any lot and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloging or imperfection not noted or pointed out. Every lot is sold "as is" and without recourse.

Every lot is on public exhibition one or more days prior to its sale, and the Association will give consideration to the opinion of any trustworthy expert to the effect that any lot has been incorrectly catalogued and in its judgment may thereafter sell the lot as catalogued or make mention of the opinion of such expert, who thereby will become responsible for such damage as might result were his opinion without foundation.

X. Records: The records of the Auctioneer and the Association are in all cases to be considered final and the highest bid shall in all cases be accepted by both buyer and seller as the value against which all claims for losses or damage shall lie.

XI. Buying on order: Buying or bidding by the Association for responsible parties on orders transmitted to it by mail, telegraph, or telephone, if conditions permit, will be faithfully attended to without charge or commission. Any purchases so made will be subject to the foregoing conditions of sale, except that, in the event of a purchase of a lot of one or more books by or for a purchaser who has not through himself or his agent been present at the exhibition or sale, the Association will permit such lot to be returned within ten days from the date of sale, and the purchase money will be refunded if the lot differs from its catalogue description.

Orders for execution by the Association should be given with such clearness as to leave no room for misunderstanding. Not only should the lot number be given, but also the title, and bids should be stated to be so much for the lot, and when the lot consists of one or more volumes of books or objects of arts, the bid per volume or piece should also be stated. If the one transmitting the order is unknown to the Association, a deposit must be sent or reference submitted. Shipping directions should also be given.

Priced Catalogues: Priced copies of the catalogue, or any session thereof, will be furnished by the Association at charges commensurate with the duties involved in copying the necessary information from the records of the Association.

These conditions of sale cannot be altered except by the auctioneer or by an officer of the Association.

Green in the foreground, and traversed by a wandering path, they are green also in the left middle distance, where some cattle are observed. The distant hills are wooded, and a clump of trees stands near the centre of the composition, casting a shadow slightly forward. To right the middle distance field is a light golden-yellow in sunshine, and a figure is seen in silhouette against it. In the foreground to right are other figures.

Height, 24 inches; length, 36 inches

IN the Scotch mountains, with mists settling over their tops, surrounding the loch, a ram and ewes of the horned sheep are seen in the foreground, standing or lying down on the grassy hummocks. Sunshine from the left in almost horizontal rays lights their thick wool and glints from the backs of a ewe and lamb whose bodies are already in transparent shadow at the left. Two other lambs are lying down and a third is standing, and on a distant point at left another flock is seen.

8500.— Height, 38 inches; length, 52 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches

FIELDS of France with high hills bounding them in the distance extend before the eye on both sides of a river which bisects them irregularly, winding into view in the central middle distance and disappearing under a bank in the right foreground. Here a few trees are growing, their tops above the picture limits. Within their transparent shadow laborers are at work mowing, and to left in yellow-green fields in sunshine are other laborers near harvest piles. Beyond, trees are in masses on the left of the river, the hillsides are in haze, and the light from a high sun glints on the river at a bend.

11500. — Height, 39 inches; length, 57 inches

BROAD hillsides given to agriculture, their summits bare of trees, lie in midday sunshine under a sky of light clouds, the horizon high on the canvas, and the sea at the distant left. The slope is toward the spectator, whose point of view is sufficiently high to look upon the sea. Near the water is a coastal town, with woods at left of it and others lining a middle distance valley in which lies a hamlet of red roofed houses. In the foreground a field of golden grain, rich and ripe, occupies the left. On the right, close to the spectator, a wayfarer pauses in a winding road to look back toward the sea. He carries a pack and a staff, and has paused before a peasant woman who sits by the roadside with her two children, one an infant in arms, one an older girl who has fallen asleep on the thick grass.

END OF DAY, 1910

8000.— Height, $39\frac{1}{2}$ inches; length, $56\frac{1}{4}$ inches

SUNSHINE makes brilliant the hills and fields and the rejuvenating river of a rich but quiet countryside of France, with only transparent shadows and with reflections of the trees on the water. The river traverses the land from left to right, passing a narrow foreground where half a dozen laundresses are busy with their linen, two putting it to bleach on the grass, the others still dipping it in the stream. Across the river are golden fields with the grain stacked, and occasional farm homes, and on the distant uplands are green woods broken by more open fields.

2/00.— Height, $23\frac{1}{2}$ inches; length, $38\frac{1}{2}$ inches

TOWARD the end of day Arab horsemen come galloping toward the observer, headed slightly to right, and keenly attentive as if in some fear, glancing back toward the left as they ride. The leader is on a white horse, followed by men on gray and sorrel horses, and among those in the rear one rides a black. Sunlight still shines from the left, though a high bank at right is partly darkened, and the warm light tints the clouds with rose and brings out the rose in the horsemen's apparel.

On the left from a mass of Corottesque trees, brush and herbage, a single erratic tree leans out far over the agitated water of a greenish-blue stream, and instead of drooping projects at its tip a fresh mass of foliage whose top is above the picture limits. Under it is seen on a point of high land a group of buildings before a sky of white and grayish clouds, and off the point is a sailboat in motion, while in the foreground a rowboat is moored close to the shore.

A YOUNG woman of regular features and rather graceful carriage pauses in the descent of some broad stairs in the foreground, leading to a river. Figure to left and slightly toward the front, she turns her head to look in the spectator's direction but downward, bringing her face into full view, in the departing light of the day. She carries in her left hand a capacious brass water-jug, and her right hand rests on the stair rail, over which red roses are climbing and a mass of greenery is seen. To left is a lake or river, and over distant hills the full moon is rising.
